

UNIVERSITY OF
NOTRE DAME

Clinical-Translational Seminar Series
Center for Rare and Neglected Diseases
The University of Notre Dame

We are pleased to announce the inaugural Clinical-Translational Seminar Series.

If you wish to meet with speakers prior to the lecture, please contact Maureen Clark
Maureen.Clark.232@nd.edu

Location

Lecture 117 Debartolo, Fridays 3-4 pm; Reception 4-5 pm

Schedule

Sept 4, 2009

Cindy Parseghian, MBA, Ph. D.
President, Ara Parseghian Medical Research Foundation.

Title: Parseghian Family Journey

Sept 25, 2009

Forbes Dennison Porter, M.D. Ph. D.
Senior Investigator
Chief: Section on Molecular Dymorphology
Program in Developmental Endocrinology and Genetics, National Institute of Child Health
Development (NIHCD), National Institutes of Health

Title: Smith-Lemli-Opitz Syndrome and Niemann-Pick Disease type C: Bench to Bedside and Bedside to Bench.

October 9, 2009

Crislyn D'Souza-Schorey, Ph. D.

Walther Cancer Institute Associate Professor, Department of Biological Sciences, Center for Rare and Neglected Diseases, The University of Notre Dame

Title: Understanding the cellular basis of Niemann Pick Type C pathogenesis.

October 16, 2009

Thomas Quinn, M.D., M.S.

Director, Johns Hopkins Center for Global Health
Associate Director for International Research, National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases, National Institutes of Health

Title: Challenges and Opportunities in Global Health: Different Approaches to Two Infectious Diseases Epidemics

October 30, 2009

Herman Vandenburg, Ph. D.

Professor of Pathology and Laboratory Medicine (Research), Brown University
Founder and Scientific Advisor, Myomics, Inc.

Title: Bioengineering Contractile Tissues for High Content Drug Screening Applications.

November 6, 2009

Christopher P. Austin, M.D.

Director, NIH Chemical Genomics Center
National Human Genome Research Institute (NHGRI), National Institutes of Health,

Title: Therapeutics for Rare and Neglected Diseases Program

November 13, 2009

Terrie Taylor, D. O.

University Distinguished Professor of internal medicine in the College of Osteopathic Medicine, Michigan State University
Director, Pediatric Malaria Research, Queen Elizabeth Hospital, Blantyre Malawi

Title: Malaria: cerebral disease and fever

December 4, 2009 - TBA