

The Eudoxus model

- Two inner ones turn slowly in opposite directions, to account for retrograde, speedup, slowdown and ecliptic crossings
- Third one gives Mars year, with axis tipped a few degrees, slipping backward on the ecliptic
- Fourth one gives usual diurnal motion