Volume: New Beginnings

Beat Seahawks

Welcome back Men of Dillon! It's been a long time since the last Insider went out and the days of reading mom's L.L. Bean Catalog or little brother's Boys Life in the crapper is now long gone. The semester is just getting going, but there are some sweet things planned for Dillon, so check them out.

Campus Events

Student Film Festival

Fri.-Sun., 7-10pm each night, DPAC

Not only is it apparent that Resident Assistant John Klein making a film for this, but there is also is a homage to Charlie Weis entitled "FLANNER HALL 1974". The question is, could it get any better? And guys, I think the only thing to top this is the Dining Hall's effort at lunch on Wednesday. God bless them. And God bless Jack Laskowitz, inventor of "America Day". America, %#@* Yeah!

Legends "Nightclub": Dorm Attendance Night

Sat. Jan. 21, Legends

In a lame attempt to get people out to Legends, the club is offering a free party to the dorm with the largest attendance. Pretty easy for the University's largest dorm, no? Actually, they do it by percentage, so usually Carroll or Old College wins it. But since it would be a sweet place for a free dance, show up, sign in, and come back. Multiple times. Notre Dame still hasn't figured out how to scan ID's, so come back as much as you like.

The Insider's new "The More You Know", a series of public service announcements that educate and raise awareness about important societal issues from our favorite NBC personalities

"It's a great big world out there and there's room for everybody. Accept people for who they are and you'll be a better person for it."

Stache Bash '06

Sat. Feb. 25, Beacon Bowl

It's finally here. The once every two year, off-campus dance is coming up. Two years ago, this was Notre Dame's biggest dance ever with 180 couples. This year we're looking for more. There's no excuse not to go. Details will be rolling in the next couple of weeks, so stay tuned. But to pass the time, here are some of the Insider's favorite ND-related 'staches.
