Hope all is going well with everyone. The Insider is a little late, but it's still chock full of goodness. We've got a couple of busy weeks ahead of us before Fall Break, so sit back, relax, take the Browns to the SuperBowl if you must and enjoy this edition of the Big Red Insider.

Campus Events

SUB Movie: Batman Begins

Thurs/Fri/Sat, Look up the times yourselves, 101 Debartolo Hall

Dorks unite! Our friends at SUB are showing the newest Batman movie, "Batman Begins". The film stars Christian Bale and Katie Holmes, who believe it or not is rumored to be pregnant with Tom Cruise. One small step for science, one giant leap for sciencetology. Alright, that was just stupid.

Relay For Life

Fri.-Sat. Oct. 7/8, 6pm-10am Stepan Center
The third annual Fightin' Irish Fightin' Cancer. Come out and support a great cause.

Keough Hall Chariot Race

Sat. Oct. 8, 10am-2pm McGlenn Fields
Enjoy an early morning with a couple of freshman from West Quad mudwrestling, throwing javelins, and racing chariots. Keough usually cheats so that they can brag about being better than O'Neill, which is justifiable, since it's common practice for someone to show their strength by racing a 3 sided box with wheels on it. If for nothing else, go to this event to be thankful you live in a dorm like Dillon.

Overheard in Dillon

During the fire drill...

Freshman Dillonite 1: Hey, what should we do?

Freshman Dillonite 2: I don't know...go outside?

Insider Fact of the Week

There are 70,000 sprinkler heads on the campus of the University of Notre Dame. Excessive? This from the same university that held a random "America Day" in the dining hall complete with eagle ice sculptures, elephant ears, and Cracker Jack boxes.

Dorm News

Big Red Dawg Dance

Sat. Oct. 8, 10:30pm-1:30am (dates come at 9:30pm) South Quad

If you haven't heard about this yet, you either can't get the train out of the tunnel or you're like Reggie Bush and can't read. But anyways, dance tickets are for sale in 310 or 354 for $15. The theme, again, is "Diamonds are Forever". Do what you gotta do and look sharp.

Dillon/Alumni Rivals Week

Hot Dog Eating Contest – Thurs. 12am
Lafortune

Looking to become ND's very own Takeru Kobayashi or "Cookie" Jarvis? Well, this is the event for you. Can you eat 4 hot dogs in under a minute without throwing up? Odds are good, unless of course you catch a glance of Quarter Dog lady.

Everything Else – Fri. 4pm South Quad

This is what everyone had been waiting for. Who's the better dorm? Dillon or Alumni? Who can spell beter? Who has the strongest thumb? Who has a better imagination than Terrell Owens himself? Who's rector would you least like to have a Sunday night disciplinary meeting with? All of these questions, and more, will be answered on Friday afternoon outside of Dillon and Alumni. Be there.
