

Behavioral Business Ethics: Ideas on an emerging field

Sponsored by

The Institute for Ethical Business Worldwide

Mendoza College of Business, University of Notre Dame

Erasmus Centre of Behavioural Ethics

Rotterdam School of Management, Erasmus University

Join prominent scholars working within the field of behavioral ethics who will speak on the topic of behavioral business ethics, including what behavioral ethics means to them, what it includes, what the field could look like, what is new by including “behavioral” in the field of ethics and morality, and what benefits to organizations and management could arise with such a focus. Currently scheduled speakers include: Max Bazerman (Harvard University) and Francesca Gino (University of North Carolina); Art Brief (University of Utah); Adam Galinsky (Northwestern University); Rod Kramer (Stanford University); Madan Pillutla (London Business School); John Darley (Princeton University); Sim Sitkin (Duke University) and Morela Hernandez; (Washington University); Tom Tyler (New York University) and Chen-Bo Zhong (University of Toronto). The conference will also host the 6th annual “Excellence in Ethics: Dissertation Proposal Competition” sponsored by the Institute for Ethical Business Worldwide. Learn about new and exciting ideas from promising scholars embarking on the field of behavioral business ethics.