Garki project content

- Adding content on the Garki project:
Use “Information and Data” tab
- (Initial) Content was added according to the organization of chapters in the Garki book
- Validated by Dr. Frank Collins & Dr. Neil Lobo

Post-Garki Addendum

- Assimilate new knowledge published after the original Garki project
- Add appropriate references at the bottom of each page
- May contain important/interesting discussions or findings from other papers

Adding new content

- Current location:

You are here: Home → Information and Data → Study Design and Study Area

- Creating a page/folder:
- Example:
- Click on “Content” tab of the folder. To add page/folder, click “Add new” on the green horizontal line at the top, listing the actions
- Select page/folder to add
- Name the title. Describe.
- Save by clicking “Save” at the bottom of page.

History & Undo...

- To view the full history for a page, click on the 'plus' sign beside the "History" at the end of a page
- Helpful to remind all the users about who did what
- Can revert back (undo) to earlier versions

Publish

- Publish your work to others in the group
- Notice the “State: xxx” button on the green horizontal line at the top, listing the page status
- If it is not published, publish it (initially, it says ‘Private’, meaning this page is invisible to others):
- In ‘Folder’ view, select (checkbox) the page, click ‘Change State’.
- Select ‘Publish’. Click ‘Save’.
- You can also use ‘Revert’ or ‘Send back’ to undo an edit session.

Delete a page

- In 'Folder' view, select (checkbox) the page, click 'Change State'.
- Select 'Private'. Click 'Save'.
- With the page selected (checkboxed), on the green horizontal line at the top, click Actions, select 'Delete'. Confirm.
