

Notre Dame Journal of Law, Ethics & Public Policy

Volume XIII Issue No. 2 1999

SYMPOSIUM ON LAW AND RELIGION

CONTENTS

FOREWORD

- Funding, Religion, and the Constitution: The 1999 Program of the AALS Section on Law and Religion Heather S. Guilette 239

ARTICLES

- Interpreting the Religion Clauses
in Terms of Liberty, Equality, and Free Speech Values—A Critical Analysis of “Neutrality Theory” and Charitable Choice Alan E. Brownstein 243
- Myths, Miscues, and Misconceptions:
No-Aid Separationism and the Establishment Clause Carl H. Esbeck 285
- The “Pervasively Sectarian” Standard
in Theory and Practice Stephen V. Monsma 321
- Equal Treatment Is Not Establishment Eugene Volokh 341
- The Increasingly Anachronistic Case
Against School Vouchers Ira C. Lupu 375

Copyright © 1999 by Thomas J. White Center on Law & Government

Why Vouchers Are Unconstitutional, and Why They're Not.....	Abner S. Greene	397
Vouchsafing Democracy: On the Confluence of Governmental Duty, Constitutional Right, and Religious Mission.....	Ruti Teitel	409
State and Religion: Funding of Religious Institutions—The Case of Israel in Comparative Perspective.....	Shimon Shetreet	421

STUDENT ARTICLES

Religious Human Rights and the International Human Rights Community: Finding Common Ground—Without Compromise.....	Michelle L. Mack	455
The Immigrant First as Human: International Human Rights Principles and Catholic Doctrine as New Moral Guidelines for U.S. Immigration Policy.....	Kristina M. Owen	499
The Price of Not Rendering to Caesar: Restrictions on Church Participation in Political Campaigns.....	Erik J. Ablin	541