

WINDOWS INTO THE SOUL

A talk on Surveillance & Society
in an Age of High Technology
by
GARY MARX, Ph.D.

Professor Emeritus, MIT and author of Protest and Prejudice, Undercover: Police Surveillance in America, and Collective Behavior and Social Movements (with Doug McAdam).

Dr. Marx will discuss the social, legal, ethical, comparative international, cultural & policy implications of recent developments in surveillance & communications technology

Monday March 21, 2005
DeBartolo 131
4:30-6:00

Sponsored by the Science, Technology, & Values Program, the Sociology Department, & the Web Group Faculty Learning Community