

Acknowledgments:

The Journal of Undergraduate Research editorial board expresses its gratitude for the continued dedication and guidance of Vicki Toumayan, Assistant Dean in the College of Arts and Letters. Associate Dean Stuart Greene guarantees ongoing support from the College, which enables our student board to create a thoroughly professional publication reaching a wide audience. A special thanks goes to John Duffy of the Notre Dame Writing Center whose assistance in the editing process helped the board immensely. We thank Brennan McLoughlin, specifically, for his technical support of the Journal's webpage, and the editorial board, generally, for dedicating many hours to this publication. The Journal draws its material exclusively from undergraduate research, and we are sincerely thankful to all students who submitted their work for consideration. The number of papers we reviewed and the quality of submissions we received reflects favorably on Arts and Letters undergraduates and their professors. Most importantly, it is the Journal's readership that makes this publication possible.